The app has also been used to help promote charitable causes. In Japan in May 2018, the app teamed up with the Japanese Red Cross while in July 2018, it partnered with UNICEF and its Baby + Me campaign."

On April 26, 2018 TikTok released their own version of Boomerangs called 'Loops' that allows users to create 15-second video clips that play forward and backward continuously looped on users feeds. However, after a few months of the Loops introduction, it was replaced by 'Motion Stills' that work similarly to the Loops feature."

It was reported in April 2018 that over one-third of TikTok's 100 million daily active users were located in China and India. In December 2018, TikTok reported that more than half of its 1.5 billion videos were viewed in India."

In May 2018, a video made by Pakistani comedians surfaced on YouTube. The video was critically acclaimed in Pakistan as it made fun of men who perform stunts with several props in public places. Many young people started doing the same thing, which was considered a crime by police officers. In the same month, another video made by two Indian boys went viral on the internet that showed how they were prank calling people and asking vulgar questions."

On February 16, 2018, Musical.ly filed another lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York against Snapchat as well as its parent company Snap Inc., alleging that these companies had falsely claimed in advertising materials that they had no similar patents-related claims against AppsFlyer Technologies (which provides analytics services for app developers). In this lawsuit, Musical.ly claimed that Snapchat had infringed on four patents including US Patent Nos. 8,426,604 and 9,446,633 from a 2014 patent application by AppsFlyer Technologies for real-time engagement analytics for mobile applications; it also claimed that Snapchat had violated US Patent Nos. 6,192,977 and 8,526,721 which AppsFlyer had assigned to Snapchat in 2015. In addition to compensation for damages from these related claims, Musical.ly sought injunctive relief requiring Snapchat and Snap Inc. to withdraw its advertising materials."
