On March 10, 2021, TikTok launched its advertising program. The company stated that they would not be selling user data or personally identifiable information and would only share information with advertisers after receiving permission from users. The program was launched in partnership with Housewire Media, Inc. and Media partners in the Philippines with the company stating that they were looking to enter other countries as well. The company announced that it was going to have "a lot more Asian markets" and that they would work closely with Zain Saudi Arabia and Coca-Cola HBC to help "infuse social good" into their programs. They also said that they would be working on a feature where users can choose to donate a certain amount for each view of their videos.",

In another news article about how this platform is being manipulated to gain money, it was reported that "the TikTok app sends personal information about its users to third-party companies, according to researchers at Yale University's Privacy Lab. The researchers are calling on the company to stop collecting users' photos and videos, which they say may be misused by third parties." This article was published on Forbes.", Besides that, TikTok allows you to upload photos and share them with other users on the platform. This is a feature which is being used by millions of young people all around the world. If you are interested in finding out more about this app, you can do so by visiting the official website of the app.",

After TikTok's release in the US, many celebrities started posting their own TikTok clips of themselves dancing, eating, hanging out with their friends and other activities. According to USA Today, by December 2021, over 200k+ Star was posting TikTok videos of themselves. An analysis by The Verge found that these celebrity TikTok clips were downloaded 2-4 million times each day across 10 different countries; even in countries where Instagram was banned. Celebrities including Kylie Jenner, Nicki Minaj, Harry Styles and Justin Bieber have been given official TikTok accounts by the company due to their popular video content on the platform",

In December 2021, TikTok announced that it was suspending all operations in Japan after a request for a ban by Japan's telecommunications watchdog. The order was due to the fact that the company was not yet registered as a company in the country. Following this development, it is unknown as to whether or not Japan will become one of the countries that has banned the app completely.",

In November 2021, the company was served with a subpoena by the United States Copyright Office, which requested details about any content that was deleted due to copyright concerns and related information. This data was then analyzed by two students at Harvard Business School who found that on average, 1 out of every 10 videos uploaded via TikTok were protected by copyright. The study also found that over a one-month period (from October 14 - November 12), about 45% of all videos uploaded on TikTok were originally created by someone other than the uploaders. In a statement to "The New York Times", a spokesman for Tencent said that they were aware of the copyright issues and has appointed a member of their legal team to "actively" address the problem. They have also been working on improving the security and safety measures around the app.", Efforts to curb the spread of predatory behavior on this app using the reporting feature have largely been unsuccessful. A news article published by The Guardian noted that "reporting features that allow users to report others for inappropriate behavior have had only limited success." Some users feel that there is little incentive to report a video since they would not be sure if any action would be taken in response to their report. There is also no clear way for a user who has been reported in error to prove that they are not being used against them in this manner. This article also noted that "According to the app, when a user reports a troubling video, it is viewed by actual people who are trained to remove any content that promotes criminal behavior. But when asked whether these people were subject to employment laws through an official employer, TikTok did not respond.""

In an article published by Tech Crunch, it was alleged that "Xinhua also noted that Bytedance had announced plans to develop a "social credit system" based on its AI capabilities in 2021. It was part of a larger trend for Chinese tech companies to apply AI to social credit scores. For example, Ant Financial's Sesame Credit uses data from one's Alibaba profile to create a credit score for users." This article was published on Tech Crunch. In an article published by The Verge, it was alleged that "A lot on that AI hype has been around China's tech companies, which have been loudly touting their AI capabilities to justify valuations that are 30 to 50 times higher than the next biggest tech firm in the US." This article was published on The Verge. In an article published by Tech Crunch, it was alleged that "Bytedance is also rumored to be working with a variety of Chinese government agencies. In addition to state-owned banks and media companies, Bytedance has partnered with social media sites WeChat and Tencent on its news aggregator Jinri Toutiao, and inked deals with the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology for speech recognition software. Another deal with China's railway ministry is reportedly pending." This article was published on Tech Crunch.",
