One of ROBLOX's main rivals is Tencent, a Chinese company. The two companies even share employees and developers, including the current admin. ROBLOX as well as Tencent are often compared to each other due to their similarities.

ROBLOX has also come under criticism for not having any sort of Quality Assurance, meaning that there is a high chance that the art in users' games will have issues, such as visual glitches, poor texture quality, and various other issues with the art itself.

The next game that would allow users to do this was Parkour Paradise on August 16th of 2012. ROBLOX is the first game to have a player base where 70% of their players are between ages 10-15 and 30% are between ages 15-25.[126]

Here is where things get a little confusing but stick with me for a second and I'll link things together for you. When you get Robux gems and tokens from winning games, there is no value in the items you receive. There is no way to spend those items on anything in this game because they don't have any value. You can't sell them, you can't trade them for anything, they don't have in game money attached to them, etcetera.

Although many games on ROBLOX are free, some with "premium" features, others require money for certain features. One example of this is when the players can buy exclusive items that are only available for purchase through Builders Club membership.[53] Before March 2010, premium features were known as paid-for items. As of March 2010, all premium items in a game are referred to as "Builders Club Premium."
