Over the years, ROBLOX has used advertising to generate revenue for their company, which they generate through in-game purchases (microtransactions) or advertisements (which can be annoying for the players). In addition to this, they also generate revenue through selling virtual items (like the aforementioned Builders Club and ROBLOX Credit). The company has also released several games like their top grossing game "Build a Buddy". ROBLOX has been criticized for its lack of funding from advertisers as well as allowing other companies to make games on ROBLOX. The company has been criticized for their children friendly ads which are designed to be easily visible by children but are very inappropriate for them which is seen as a breach of the COPPA (Children's Online Privacy Protection Act) and their end user license agreement, although ROBLOX has since changed its policy. The company also uses an "Ads on the Web" program where they can serve certain types of ads depending upon a player's age and location.

Anthem: On June 15th, 2018, ROBLOX announced a new game called "Anthem". It was a FPS which was heavily criticized for violating many of the company's policies. The game eventually received negative reviews from users who claimed it was simply an unfinished product. The company also ended up making an apology on their website.

Roblox has been criticized by parents and others for its age-inappropriate nature, and for encouraging bullying. Some players have reported being bullied while in the game, due to language or other factors. Many of these players have been reported to take their complaints to Roblox's customer service team, only to be ignored or told that it was the victim's fault. It is also reported that the staff are biased towards certain users due to friendship rather than any sort of immorality on their parts.

In May 2018, it was reported that the company had over 300 million daily active players worldwide. This includes the users who are in moderation, which is approximately 95% of all players. In addition, based on their own estimates, they stated that over 50% of these players play Roblox daily.

Some users have also claimed that ROBLOX never responds to or bans reported users. This is because there are many cases where both inappropriate content spreads rapidly through the site, but ROBLOX does nothing about it because they do not want to ban accounts for minor rule violations like swearing, nudity or spamming in chat.
