On May 22, 2018, ROBLOX launched Project Bloks, an app for iOS and Android devices that is aimed towards children 2-12 years old. The app allows users to build various blocks available in the game. Some blocks are also available as virtual items for purchase. The revenue earned from these items is then distributed among the app developers on ROBLOX. The game was first released in Canada, and now has been released in the United States.

On March 31, 2010, ROBLOX announced that they would be updating their policy on how they handle user information.[1] On May 5, 2010, a mass email was sent out from the company to its users informing them of changes made to their Privacy Policy and Terms of Use. The changes were made in the name of increased safety and security, and it was stated that the change was made in order to "protect [its] members."

On November 1, 2015, Roblox was officially sued for copyright infringement by Joshua Moskowitz, also known as "Dr. J". The lawsuit was filed in Los Angeles Superior Court and details how parts of "The Maze Runner" were used to create a ROBLOX game called "The Maze." The lawsuit alleges that Dr. J is notifying every author use of his game engine to give them the opportunity to either take down their games or have a section added to his website.

Roblox has been nominated for an O149 Award at Inked Awards 2014. This was for the Developer of the Year category. On January 9, 2018, Roblox won the People's Choice award in the Family category for the 9th Annual Webby Awards.

In 2018, the company announced that they would be adding new measures in an attempt to stop children from getting weapons and access to violent themes. These measures include making it mandatory for anyone under the age of 13 to provide proof of identity when signing up for a Roblox account. The report also stated that the company has a team of moderators who work with different groups such as parents and educators to monitor games and stop users from being able to access offensive content.
