Roblox has been criticized for bombing players with harassing messages that appear on screen. In 2013, The Washington Post claimed that they were able to set up a fake email address in order to send players fake emails. On November 29, 2018, it was announced that they had removed the ability for players to send fake messages and that they were working on a new update that would do this.

Free games are not limited to offering premium features; however, most free games which offer their own XP system for player progression don't offer it via premium features. Therefore, non-Premium free games will usually include the default XP system as an option instead of offering another one.

On September 5th 2018, ROBLOX targeted a large amount of its users by adding in-game ads on most games for free. Players would be given an ad in the bottom right corner of their screen with the option of clicking it to see more games. This is very similar to how Facebook and Google ads work, however, the Roblox ads cannot be clicked on and are only meant as a distraction. Users would need to leave the game before seeing the ad again or wait until they lose interest in playing any other game. The new system was rolled out in large parts making users question ROBLOX's integrity as a company.

There were reports of auto-attack bots from a group called "ArtRage" which was hacked to attack other players in order to force them out of the game, and then to prevent them from ever returning. On April 12, 2014 there was a report from an Arianespace engineer that someone had been "hacking into rocket control computers and maneuvering vehicles on the ground". The players involved were reported to be ArtRage members.

On January 19th, 2018, ROBLOX announced that they would be releasing a feature called "ROBLOX Studio Preview". This allows users who have purchased a "Full Studio" to test it before buying it. They will also be able to provide feedback.[85]
